Nestled in one of the nation's most magical and historical areas, the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Salisbury State College effectively combines the relaxed yet personable nature of a small college education with the rigorous academic demands of a major university.

The recreational pursuits of the Eastern Shore are legendary, from the boardwalk of Ocean City to the wilderness of Chincoteague Island to the tranquility of Blackwater Refuge near Cambridge, Md. Only 30 miles to the east is Ocean City's famous white beach and the 30 miles of Assateague Island's National and State Park.

Salisbury, Wicomico's county seat and the Shore's major city today, was laid out by a charter granted in 1732, the year George Washington was born. Progressive growth has been characteristic of Salisbury. It has grown over the years from a little cross-roads town with a small lumbermill and a few stores into a flourishing business center and a chief distributing point.

The College offers undergraduate programs leading to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees, and graduate programs leading to the Master of Arts in English, History and Psychology, the Master of Education, the Master of Business Administration, and the Master of Science in Nursing.

Salisbury State's undergraduate program became more defined in 1984 with the alignment of the College's major programs into five distinct schools of learning: the School of Nursing and Health Sciences; the School of Business; the School of Liberal Arts; the School of Professional Studies; and the School of Science.

COACH

Karen Weaver (Lock Haven '80) has brought the Salisbury State College field hockey program from a 120th ranking in NCAA Division III to a number five ranking and the NCAA Division III championship playoffs in just four years as head coach. Her 44-26-2 record does not begin to reflect her contributions to the SSC field hockey program.

In July 1982, Weaver inherited a team that finished the season with a record of 5-9. But through the initiation of a highly successful recruiting program as well as intense coaching methods, Weaver's 1983 squad ended its season with the number seven spot in the nation and a 13-7 record.

Her 1984 team took things one step further, going to the NCAA championship playoffs and achieving a number five ranking in the nation, that following a 12-4-1 regular-season record against the most difficult schedule in NCAA Division III.

The 1985 squad started the season 2-2 but rebounded to win 10 of the last 12 games including the Salisbury State Sunfest Tournament. Weaver guided the team to a 12-3-1 regular season finish before losing to Messiah College 3-2 in the NCAA Division III playoffs. The squad was ranked first in the South region and as high as fifth in the nation.

A member of the Mitchell & Ness Company and College Field Hockey Coaches Association's All-America selection committees, Weaver's national contacts have allowed several SSC players to be recognized as all-Americans in the past two years.

Weaver has been selected as editor of the NAGWS Guide for Field Hockey until 1986, having been a frequent contributor to the national field hockey magazine, The Eagle, as well as other national and regional publications. She is a member of the U.S. Olympic Field Hockey Development Committee and has been head clinician for U.S. development clinics since 1981.

Weaver has also developed a nationally competitive indoor field hockey program, a new step for Salisbury State and colleges in this region.

Aside from her duties as field hockey coach, Weaver is the College's women's lacrosse coach and an instructor in the Physical Education Department, having received her M.S. in Physical Education at Purdue University with a concentration in Sport Sociology.

Weaver has coached field hockey as an assistant at Connecticut College and women's lacrosse as head coach at Williams College prior to her work at SSC. In 1982, she led the Sea Gull women's lacrosse team to its first winning season.

ASSISTANT COACH

Dawn Chamberlin was the 1985 field hockey graduate assistant coach. Her expertise in the area of field hockey is well documented as she aided head coach Karen Weaver during the season.

The 1981 graduate of Abington High School in Abington, PA attended the University of Iowa on a full athletic scholarship for field hockey. She lettered all four years at Iowa and was a co-captain during her junior and senior seasons.

Among Chamberlin's many awards and achievements is being selected to the all-Big-Ten Conference Team in 1984—a year when she was the team's most valuable player. Chamberlin helped Iowa attain a second place NCAA Division I finish that season.

The 1985 Iowa graduate with a B.S. in Physical Education and Health, won the Iowa Women's Intercollegiate Academic Achievement Award (1982-1985) and the Physical Education Academic Achievement Award (1983-1985).

REVIEW

The Salisbury State College field hockey team put together another great season in 1985 as the squad went 10 straight games without a loss and advanced to the NCAA Division III playoffs.

The young Sea Gull squad (SSC loses just one player this season to graduation) began the year slowly as it managed just a 2-2 mark after four games. The losses, however, were to some top field hockey teams including Trenton State and Frostburg State.

But, from that point on the Gulls were almost unbeatable.

SSC's win streak started with a one-point win over Glassboro State boosting the Gulls to 10th in the nation. Junior transfer Robin Adair from Rehoboth, DE then took over. She scored all six goals in two 3-1 victories to give Salisbury State its first Sunfest Invitational Tournament Championship.

Junior Terri Timmons of Salisbury, MD who established an all-time school career scoring record earlier in the season, had a hat trick (three goals) in a lop-sided 9-0 win over UMBC.

The Sea Gulls then traveled to the tough Ithaca Tournament where they defeated sixth ranked Cortland State and tied third ranked Ithaca 1-1. A 1-0 win over Wheaton followed as SSC moved up to fifth in the nation. The Gulls record kept improving as they got consecutive wins over Loyola, Mt. St. Mary's and Mary Washington to give them nine wins and a tie in 10 games.

The top ranked team in the North region, Elizabethtown, broke the SSC win streak by taking a heart-breaking 4-3 overtime win in Salisbury. The Gulls, led by head coach Karen Weaver who is in her fourth year as the head coach, rebounded to defeat Franklin and Marshall 4-0 in the final regular season game.

SSC, the top ranked team in the South region, traveled to Messiah College in the opening round of the NCAA Division III playoffs. SSC fell behind 3-0 in the first half, but rallied within one goal at 3-2 before time ran out.

Postseason awards were numerous for some outstanding Gull performers. Adair and junior Stacy Stem were each named first team all-America. Adair led the team with 25 goals while Stem, who was also a first-team performer last year, dished out 13 assists and over 800 passes during the season.

The all-Region team was dominated by Salisbury State as the Gulls placed five players on the first team. Joining Adair and Stem were sophomore goalkeeper Karen Stockton of Egg Harbor, NJ, junior midfielder Cathi Treacy of Olney, MD and the only senior on the squad, Diane Richards of Sykesville, MD.
